CITY NOTES

MEETS THURSDAY—The literature section of the Green Ridge Women's club will meet on Thursday at 4 o'clock p. m.

RECREATION SOCIETY—Branch 639, Irish Catholic Benevolent association, will tonight give a cuisine and social in St. John's hall on Caspary avenue.

A PRESENTS DANCE—The Young Bachelor's will conduct a pre-Lenten dance at Seiler's dancing academy on Friday evening next. Music will be furnished by Lawrence.

MEETING TODAY—A regular meeting of the Adams Women's Union and Relief society will be held at the residence of T. S. Galien, of Adams avenue, on Wednesday at 2 p. m.

PRICE OF GAS REDUCED—The Scranton Gas and Water company and the Hyde Park Gas company announce that on and after April 1 the price of gas will be reduced to $1 per one thousand cubic feet.

PAY DAYS—The employees of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western car shops were paid yesterday, and the machine shop men will be paid today. The Delaware and Hudson employees at the Postoffice repair shops were paid yesterday.

STRUCK BY FALLING COAL—Harper Judson, an aged miner, suffered a fracture of the pelvis at the slope of the Green Ridge coal company yesterday, by being struck by a large piece of coal. He was removed to the Lackawanna hospital.

FADDER IS NEW BODYSMAN—M. F. Fadden yesterday became secretary for ex-Senator Councilman Simon Thomas, held in $5,000 bail by Alderman Fuller on the charge of perjury, preferred by the Municipal league. The league objected to W. T. Jenkins, Thomas' original bodysman, and the ex-Senator was re-arrested on a capias issued by court.

THREATS TO KILL—Ignita Millich, of Grant avenue, was arrested last evening on a warrant issued by Alderman Millar, charging him with threats to kill, preferred by Mary Chappel, also of Grant avenue. He furnished bail for a hearing Friday night at 7 o'clock.

BUNDLE OF RAGS—A telephone message was received at police headquarters yesterday afternoon that a mysterious bundle was lying on the banks of the Lackawanna river under the Scranton street bridge. Patrolman Neula was dispatched to the scene and found a shawl and a quantity of old rags.

UNIONIZING THE BARBERS—An open meeting of Barbers' union, No. 21, was held last night in Carpenter's hall for the purpose of enrolling the central city barbers who have not yet joined the organization. George Goshier acted as organizer and enrolled fourteen new members. Another meeting to receive further enrollments will be held next Monday night.

SUPPORT GAVE WAY—Patrick Fisher, of 224 Ninth street, was received at the Lackawanna hospital yesterday with his left leg broken above the knee. Fisher was engaged in hoisting some machinery in Carlucci's stone yard in Green's place when the plank on which he was standing gave way, throwing him to the ground, ten or twelve feet below.

MEMBERSHIP INCREASING—During the four days that the membership competition of the National Young Men's Christian association has been in operation there have been upwards of one hundred new members received. This makes the total membership over 750, and gives the association fifth place among the railroad branches of the country.

STOLE ELEVATOR WHEEL—Frank Hartman and John Kubner, two boys living on Birch street, were arrested by Sergeant of Eastern Block yesterday for larceny of a cast iron elevator wheel. The wheel was stolen from Gorman's factory. The boys tried to dispose of it to a peddler in Raymond court.

NAY AUG'S REPORT—The report of the Nay Aug Engine company for the year of 1900 is as follows: Fireworks held at Scranton, 1,000 still alarms answered; 18,700 feet of hose laid; 1,500 gallons of chemicals used; wagon in use sixty-one hours; steamer in use twenty-seven hours; average number of men in attendance at fire, 14; average number at still alarms, 12; total number of men at fires, 757; Frank B. Reese, secretary; John Moir, foreman.

LARCENY BY RAILEE—Joe Oetzel, one of the proprietors of the old Dewey hotel on Lackawanna avenue, was held under $300 bail by Alderman Miller yesterday on the charge of larceny by bailor of bar furniture. The Pennsylvania Brewing company is the prosecutor. It is alleged that Oetzel permitted and did not inform the constable who sold his bar furniture on a landlord's warrant that they had already been purchased by the Pennsylvania Brewing company.

CENTRAL LABOR UNION OBJECTS—Mayor Moir received a communication yesterday from the secretary of the Central Labor union inviting him to enter with a committee from the body some time this week regarding the work done for the city by W. E. Gilchrist, the carriage maker. The labor people want the mayor to direct the chief of the fire department not to have any work done by Mr. Gilchrist until the differences, which they allege to exist between him and the Carriage Makers' union, are amicably adjusted. The mayor has decided to meet the committee and talk the matter over.

IT WAS A VERDI NIGHT.

Dead Composer's Works Received Attention at Historical Society.

The members of the Newman Magazine Club and Catholic Historical society enjoyed a "Verdi night" last night at the Knights of Columbus rooms. An excellent paper on the life of the dead composer was read by Martin Walsh, who rose in an interesting manner his rite from the peasant's hut to a position of fame.

He referred to the operas composed by Verdi and to his music in general, paying special attention to his church music, which, he said, reflected the wonderful spirituality and deep religious convictions of the man.

ELLMAN CASE WAS TRIED

THE CHARGE WAS SUBORNATION OF PERJURY.

Trial Was Before Judge George Purdy, of Wayne County, and the Case Was Given to the Jury at Adjourning Hour—Mrs. Tresina Copina on Trial on a Charge of Shoplifting—Michael McDonough and Frank Mangano Not Guilty of Robbery—Other Cases.

Jacob Ellman, who for several years has acted as a deputy constable and special officer, was tried yesterday on a charge of subornation of perjury. The case was heard before Judge George Purdy, of Wayne county, who is specially presiding in the Superior court room.

The commonwealth's case depended largely on Max Herring, who was arrested last summer on a charge of falsely swearing out warrants against different persons for the purpose of blackmail. Herring's testimony was to the effect that he was a bootblack, when Ellman came to him and explained a plan by which they could both make a good deal of money.

He was instructed to go before Justice of the Peace Mason, of Blakely borough, and have a warrant issued for the arrest of Daisy Miller, of this city, on a charge of selling liquor without a license and keeping a disorderly house, and to go before Alderman Millett, of the Sixth ward of this city, and have Nellie Blye arrested on similar charges, and also for robbery, alleging that he had been relieved of a sum of money in the place. Ellman said he would be on hand to serve the warrants, and that they would make some money by settling the cases.

Herring knew nothing about the Miller or Blye women, but he swore out the warrants, as instructed by Ellman, and they were served. Several witnesses, one of them Nellie Blye, were called by the commonwealth, to corroborate Herring's testimony.

ELLMAN'S STATEMENT.

Ellman denied having suggested the swearing out of warrants to Herring, and in his behalf a statement made by Herring under oath to George Rice, notary public, was offered in evidence. It was made while Herring was in jail soon after his arrest, and set forth that Ellman had nothing to do with the suggestion that warrants be sworn out against the Miller and Blye women and that he was sorry that Ellman had been accused in the matter.

With reference to this statement, Herring said that he made it after being promised by Ellman that he would get him out of jail and give him money to pay his way out of town.

The case was tried for the commonwealth by Assistant District Attorney Louis Kopp, and for the defense by Judge John J. Cobbett. Attorney John J. Murphy and W. V. Bayler appeared for Ellman. Mr. Murphy asked the court to charge the jury that it required one witness and corroborative circumstances equal to another witness to convict of perjury. This point was affirmed. The court was asked also to say that the commonwealth had failed to make out a case, but Judge Purdy declined to do this, saying it was a matter for the jury to decide. The case went to the jury just before court adjourned.

SHOPLIFTING CASE.

Mrs. Tresina Copina was on trial when court adjourned, before Judge H. M. Edwards, on the charge of larceny by bailor of bar furniture. The case was heard before Judge H. M. Edwards, on the charge of larceny by bailor of bar furniture. The Pennsylvania Brewing company is the prosecutor. It is alleged that Oetzel permitted and did not inform the constable who sold his bar furniture on a landlord's warrant that they had already been purchased by the Pennsylvania Brewing company.

Michael McDonough and Frank Mangano were tried before Judge Edwards on a charge of robbery, preferred by John Lally. The evidence was to the effect that the two defendants had been drinking together on the night of Dec. 20, about 4 o'clock in the morning they started along West Lackawanna avenue, toward West Scranton and when they reached the Hook and Ladder house Lally says that Mangano and Beane pounced upon him and knocked him down, beat him, and then took $10 from his pockets. Lally admitted that McDonough had nothing to do with the assault or robbery. The defense was that no robbery was committed; that Beane and Lally became engaged in a quarrel, and that blows were exchanged between them and that Mangano stepped in and separated the two.

BANQUET FOR STAR WORKERS

Forty-seven of the most active and energetic assistant superintendents and solicitor collectors in the employ of the International Correspondence schools were last night tendered a banquet at the Hotel Jernyn by the company.

Forty-seven of the most active and energetic assistant superintendents and solicitor collectors in the employ of the International Correspondence schools were last night tendered a banquet at the Hotel Jernyn by the company. The guests included field men, whose territory ranges all the way from the classic precincts of cultured Boston to the rugged slopes of the Rocky mountains, and the banquet was only part of a general entertainment programme planned for them.

During November and December, the company declared a contest, the winners of which were to be awarded a trip to Scranton. Of the one thousand and seventy-one field men, one hundred and forty-seven qualified for the trip, and as it would be hardly possible to take all of these men away from their posts at the same time, another banquet will be given in thirty days, and perhaps still another a month after that one, until all of the winners have received their reward.

The visitors began coming in on Sunday and the complete body reported to President T. J. Foster Monday morning.

President Foster's address. Yesterday a meeting was held in the Mattie hall. At this an address was made by President Foster, telling, in a general way, of the work being at present done and of the new course of study to be inaugurated.

Various of the professors in the schools also spoke, and thoroughly explained the workings of their particular departments. Assistant Manager Reichert also gave an interesting address.

At last night's banquet about eighty covers were laid. The tables were arranged in the form of a large rectangle, open at the one end, at which was stationed Lawrence's orchestra, which throughout the evening played lively, catching refrains.

At the head of the table sat President T. J. Foster, with Vice-President Rufus J. Foster and Director T. E. Jones close by. Numerous of the schools' professors and heads of departments were also present, mingled with the visitors. A splendid menu had been prepared, and after the company had done full justice to it, President Foster made a brief address. He spoke of the interest taken in the trip to Scranton contest and satisfactory results arising from it, and mentioned the fact that the company now has 282,592 students on its books.

He then called upon the heads of departments and representatives from various sections to read testimonials from students taking their courses. A number of these were read, all of which bore a glowing tribute. The committee entrusted with the details of the contest consisted of W. P. Weichel and Jacob Foster, and many were the commendatory remarks made about their management. The out-of-town guests were:

WAGE SCALE PRESENTED. STRIKING MILL GIRLS WAITED ON THE OWNERS.

Those in a Position to Know Say There is a Possibility of Strike Being Settled.

The striking silk workers' scale committee completed a uniform wage scale Monday night and yesterday waited upon various of the mill owners and presented it to them. They met with varying results.

Superintendent Davis, of the Sauquoit Silk Manufacturing company, stoutly answered that the attitude maintained by the company from the first would be maintained, that the voluntary increase granted last week was sufficient and that no more would be done.

It was pay day at the Kiota Throwing company's mill, and the majority of the strikers accompanied the committee and received their January pay, about the same time that the scale was being presented.

It was received by George Klots, of the management, about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and will be given careful consideration before any answer is made.

Valentine Ellis, proprietor of the Dress mill at North Scranton and Dickson City, and the Cambria Manufacturing company's plant in Dunmore, was also waited upon by the committee, but refused to grant any audience.

The hands at his Dunmore mill are still working, but the North Scranton girls have been out about two weeks, and yesterday morning the employees at Dickson, about two hundred and fifty in number, went out.

Harvey Brothers have not yet been called upon by the committee. They express themselves willing to talk the matter over with the strikers, but it is not likely that the latter's full demands will be granted. The situation at present hinges upon the future action of the Sauquoit people. Nearly all of the other concerns have expressed themselves as willing to adopt the same scale as any which would go into effect at the latter mill.

A special meeting of the Central Labor union will be held in Carpenter's hall at 10 o'clock Sunday morning to take some action regarding the strike. The scale of wages presented yesterday to the various mill owners contained the demands already stated in these columns, and in addition it was stipulated that none but union help be employed.

It was stated last night by those who are closely in touch with the strike situation that there is a possibility that the strike will be settled within a few days. Influences are at work which it is stated will in all probability bring about...
